More Flying Objects Reported

of some Air Force experiment becomes unlikely.

FIRST SIGHTING

The first sighting of an unidentified flying object in the Valley occurred at 3:30 a. m. on Saturday, August 17, about 40 hours before the boys in Ft. Kent saw something.

A lone hiker stopped to rest at a road junction about two miles north of Cyr mountain on the road from Birch Point to St. David. Looking toward the sky south, he saw an object moving slowly toward the northwest. The object seemed oval shaped. It gave off a yellow light, the same color light as the moon. The observer could not determine the altitude, but it seemed to be as high as the orbit of one of the man-made satellites he saw a couple of years ago. It moved along an extremely irregular course, making frequent turns as sharp as a hundred degrees or more. No airplane could make such turns. The speed was hard to determine due to the uncertainty about distance. It appeared to be moving slowly. The observer watched it for about fifteen minutes during which time it moved from the vicinity of the planet Saturn to the vicinity of the constellation Orion. The TIMES ran a notice about this sighting in last week's issue. But this notice could not have spurred the imaginations of the boys in Fort Kent, because it was not printed until four days after they had seen their object.

If it's not any kind of conventional aircraft, if it is not an Air Force experimental craft, then...

TIMES RECEIVES MORE REPORTS OF UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS

David, left, Andrea, and Michael Saunders are interviewed by our artist Lionel Dufour in preparation for a sketch of their strange experience.

David and Michael Saunders of Ft. Kent looked up from their play about dusk to see a silver disc glide through the sky from north to south. This is the second recent sighting of an unidentified flying object in the Valley. They called their mother and grandmother from the house, but by the time the adults arrived, the object had disappeared over the hill.

The boys, aged nine and eight, are sons of David Saunders of the Immigration Service in Ft. Kent. They saw the object while playing outside their home on the Frenchville Road on Sunday August 10.

Their father was away at work at the time. He said that he paid little attention to the story until he saw an item in last week's TIMES reporting a similar incident and asking for reports of other sightings.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders agree that their boys are not inclined to make up stories. "Especially the older one," Saunders said. "I've learned from experience that when he says he saw something, he saw it." The boys said that the object appeared intermittently as it passed, something like a radio which isn't working very well being turned on and off. The object was shaped like two dinner plates stacked with their tops together. It was flying very low, they said; when it passed over the hill, it just cleared the trees.

They said that they are familiar with the appearance of airplanes. "It didn't have a tail like a helicopter," David said. "It didn't have propellers or wings," Michael said. "It was going too slow to be a plane."

They judged that it must have crossed the river on its way south. Their father said that this is strange since aircraft are not supposed to cross the border.

Lieutenant Rice of the Public Information Office at Loring Air Force Base said that experimental aircraft, whether American or Canadian, would be very unlikely to cross the international border. Thus the explanation that the object was the product of a military experiment is unlikely.

AIR FORCE SKEPTICAL BUT WANTS REPORTS ON SIGHTED OBJECTS

The Public Information Office at Loring Air Force Base announced its interest in receiving further reports if the (or one of the) unidentified flying objects is sighted again. All persons having information are requested to contact the TIMES. Their reports will be sent to Loring.

The Public Information Officer said that official Air Force policy denies the existence of unidentifiable flying objects. He said that all reports of such objects which had been investigated by the government turned out to be explainable under natural causes.

SCIENTISTS PROBE STRANGE SPACECRAFT LANDINGS

ARMY MEN and scientists probe mystery crater.

Policeman Reports Fiery Streak In Night Sky

By Fred McCormick

British scientists have a mystery on their hands. At least one authority is convinced that strange spacecraft have landed on a farm near Dorset.

The mystery began three weeks ago when farmer Roy Blanchard found a strange hole in his barley and potato field.

Around the hole were three markings, as if a triple-finned spacecraft had landed there and then taken off.

Blanchard notified Army officials and a Bomb Disposal Squad was sent to his farm.

Their instruments indicated that a strange metal object lay somewhere underground. A shaft was sunk, but nothing was found.

Then a few days later two more mystery craters were discovered.

They had the same triple-fin markings as the first.

Scientist Dr. Robert Randall, an expert in astrophysics, spent ten hours studying the craters.

His theory is that spacecraft, perhaps in trouble, landed and after repairs took off again.

He said similar marks had been found in Australia in 1954 and in France in 1958.

He estimates the spacecraft were from 500 to 1000 feet in diameter and weighed about 600 tons.

People in the area were asked to report anything strange they may have seen in the sky about the time the craters were discovered.

Village Constable Anthony Penny told his superior officers that he had seen an orange object flash through the night sky on July 10. It vanished near the field in which the first crater was found. He had mentioned the incident in his daily report.

A motorist passing near the Blanchard farm on the same night came forth to say he had seen an eerie orange streak in the sky—also on July 10.

Army Capt. John Rogers, after inspecting the craters, said, "Our readings so far are rather unusual."

"They indicate an object of some size."

"We find indications that something is deeply imbedded in the earth. But the shafts we've sunk haven't uncovered anything."

"We've never encountered anything like this before."

Farmer Blanchard is also convinced that a mysterious spacecraft landed in his field.

"I'm sure some craft from outer space came down on my land," he said.

"When it took off again, it sucked out the barley and potatoes I had planted."

"There isn't a crop left around any of the craters."

British Army men are still probing the mystery.

Capt. Rogers has requested permission to sink deeper shafts in the area—hoping to learn why his instruments still indicate a strange object buried deep in the earth.

SUNGMA UFOLOGIST
ANALYZES THE

THRASHER MYSTERY

"Great events cast shadows ahead!" The Thresher disaster was foreshadowed by a mysterious something still unsolved. A sighting of about 18 alleged 'icebergs' 350 miles due east of Cape May, N.J., by Navy Airmen on Dec. 30, 1961, six months after the iceberg season. Competent Navy personnel saw them but were not seen again after that. In my opinion, they were an alien, extraterrestrial fleet of camouflaged amphibious spacecraft appearing when on the surface as floating icebergs. The setting for an enigma surrounding a U.S.

submarine, testing and diving off the coast of Massachusetts a year and some months later was in the making! Fantastic as it may seem, one of these ocean-floor based aquatic spacecraft rammed the Thresher intentionally with devastating, instant, deadly results. The total short-circuiting of all electronic devices on the atomic-powered sub has defied scientific explanation as well as to explain the swiftness of attack upon the Thresher by an alien, out-of-this-world power. This leaves no doubt, that "THEY" don't tolerate any detection which could spoil a master plan, not hatched within earthling mentalities, but by such as had come via space to a north polar region rendezvous, for a conquest, vaguely familiar with H.G. Wells "War of the Worlds". With one important difference, to use the ocean floor which covers three parts of this planet, instead of land-based spacecraft, aquatic, hard-to-detect, thus superior type spacecraft, employed to install for an alien, extraterrestrial government the advance projects of underwater domes upon the ocean floor of the various water masses belonging to this planet.

When the Thresher dove into the projected forcefield of an UAO (Unidentified Aquatic Object) and into the alien spacecraft of aquatic design, it expanded the molecular structure of the sub, froze the crew into immobility and the doomed sub was on its way to a dead dive location, not found as yet by all the modern scientific devices of earthling ken.

Invaders, using ocean beds for a modus operandus for which we have no counter offensive methods, must have the brass-wearing, governmental 'ostriches' a bit bewildered, confused and fearing that the beginning of an invasion by extraterrestrial task forces have had time since Dec. 30, '61, to establish themselves on ocean bases within giant submerged mountain caverns for "Operation Takeover".

In a summary by a N.Y. Herald Tribune reporter S. Leroy, as of Dec. 30, 1961, we find the key that unlocks the Thresher mystery!

Leroy asks, and so do I: "What were 18 icebergs doing 350 miles due east of Cape May, N.J., in December, six months after the iceberg season?"

Four Navy Airmen suddenly found their radar screen cluttered with targets. The crew of Navy Air Wing 3 at Brunswick, Me., led by Lt. Chas. Bond counted 18 blips on the scope. Remember, that radar picks up metallic objects exclusively and icebergs are NOT metallic. Going down to investigate, we see icebergs, bits and pieces, some of them 300 to 800 feet long. Reporting their findings to the Coastguard at Boston, to Capt. Ross P. Bullard of the International Ice Patrol, so as to conduct a search for the ICE.

A few hours, ten-mile-square search of the area in Bullard's plane brought no results, not a trace of ice, all of which is mystifying indeed, unless one tackles the subject from an entirely different angle, which involves another mystery, the disappearance of A-sub Thresher with a crew of 120 as of April 10, 1963.

Friday, June 21, 1963, the "Thresher post mortem" came up with this weird explanation as to the sudden demise of the A-sub personnel. "Rupture of engine room pipe", which was "only a surmise", ...according to Secretary of the Navy, F. Korth! Interesting is it not, the ramming of the sub did more than "rupture" engine room pipes, that's for sure! April 13, 1963, Portsmouth, N.H., Navigator Lt. J.D. Watson testified, that he heard a dull thud on the phone, when the last in contact with the dead-diving Thresher. In my opinion, the "thud" explained with another name, such as "the ramming" could account for the swift, silent, vanishing of the Thresher which has the 'experts' gasping and guessing!!

April 15, 1963, Portsmouth, N.H., ... a few days after the disaster involving 129 lives, Lt. Comdr. St.Kecker, captain of the Thresher escort Skylark, told of "seeing a mysterious vessel on the horizon, that did not answer a challenge." The object (our UAO) appeared to be a submarine sail or fin. It appeared to be a dirty color. (Aquatic as well as ordinary spacecraft would sport such a tail fin.)

April 16, 1963, Portsmouth, N.H., Mysterious, electronic signals picked up by submarine Seawolf, two days after the loss of the Thresher and not coming from the ill-fated ship, Rear Admiral L. Ramage testified: "None of the signals could be equated with anything that could have originated with personnel aboard the 'Thresher'! (Mystery signals, that could not be equated by a competent Rear Admiral should have you in stitches, especially when they originate from ocean-based aquatic extraterrestrial spacecraft...)

Thus the prelude for the Thresher tragedy goes back to Dec. '61, to an "iceberg incident", which have Navy and Governmental brass groggy with a nameless fear, of what IT was or what IT could have been, that swatted out of existence an 'invincible' A-sub and a crew of 129, as if they had been pesky insects to "THEM".

A truly, wholehearted Navy and Government effort to ever locate the sub has never been made, fearing theories similar to the ones advanced by this Sungma, would prove embarrassing, theories that have within them the germ of TRUTH!

Man, never having discovered, duplicated the secret of the humble water spider, who with captured air bubbles builds his fabulous underwater 'Xanadu', could well be in the webbed hands of Tritons intelligence, having come on an 'exploring expedition' from perhaps Neptune, to create underwater, ocean-based domes, housing facilities for minions of their weirdies, in search for 'New Frontiers' beyond their home planet!

Strategically based aquatic spacecraft covering the ocean floors of the planetary bit of real estate, would soon seek out any atomic and polaris firing (Concluded on Page 12) sub, freeze their crews and destroy the sub by the same unique method outlined before, a technique which will later on get to the atom stock pile of alpha-betical bombs and render them worthless junkpiles.

The all-out invasion in surface space-craft could come even then, filled with what was spawned elsewhere on other worlds and if we have to deal with space cannibals, to feed on what gives with human meat machines; it would be better "THEY" put their victims into a deep freeze, so as for them not knowing what's "eating" them:

Indeed: "I have seen an evil under the sun, the fool foldeth his hands and eats his own flesh" (Ecclesiastes) Thus not a quotation from Buddha's sutra's, but it served the occasion! For it matters little, just who owns, operates polaris-firing subs, which by superior detecting devices, can be put out of commission, devices like these mysterious signals that defied decoding since they were of an alien, out-of-this-world origin.

Better to accept an unrefutable fact, that we are NOT the only intelligent plum in this cosmic pudding, that the day must come and soon, that we will have to face reality, have to accept the challenge of extraterrestrial invaders, to defend ourselves and this planet or hand over a world and its inhabitants to them on a silver platter regardless of their so highly priced, idiotic political, religious differences.

OTHER SPHERES (Conclusion)

creation, it is everything. However, humanity has constructed machines which tell him there are large areas of that universe, areas of energy and form, of which his bodily senses leave him entirely unaware.

It has been suggested, by Honcricff ("A Clairvoyant Theory of Perception") and others, that the function of our bodily senses is to restrict perception into a relatively narrow band of the chemical 'spectrum'. If we put on green goggles, the whole environment looks green. If we put on a chemical body, the whole universe looks chemical. It is quite apparent to many people that this is not true. Their perception refuses to be shut down to the chemical level and kept there. It reaches out, quite without any consent of theirs of which they are consciously aware, and takes in other areas of life and experience. These areas are obviously neither chemical nor the products of delusion induced by any misunderstanding or misapprehension of the chemical environment. These people know the other world or worlds to be at least as real as the one reported upon by the body's senses.

There is not space here to give a full exposition of the extra-chemical worlds in one short article, but suffice it to say that a close look at the visitations of 'Angels' in the Bible, and similar incidents related in the Scriptures of other world religions, and the performance of Sky Ships (flying saucers) will give a very clear indication of their extra-chemical origin.

I certainly do not disagree at all with Mr. Rawlinson in regard to his appraisal of Jesus, the Christ. I agree, too, that Blavatsky, Mary Baker Eddy, St. Germain and others, may as he puts it be 'effects', but nevertheless, they could all be playing their part in the Cosmic scheme, and I still maintain, that their work has enabled mankind to have the broader and more complete understanding necessary for our chemical universe (the Cosmic Egg) to eventually fit itself into the overall Cosmic Idea.

For a very long time humanity, as a whole, has not been aware of the broader way of life open to it. Humanity has been existing in the chrysalis stage. The Coming of the Sky People in our present era - and, more especially, when they are really understood - will help mankind to win its wings and to co-exist with those members of the race of Man inhabiting other far greater universes. Those 'other spheres' about which mankind is now beginning to get a glimmer of understanding.

of them appear mopey. Could these be carvings of spacemen from the past? 10

In the Summer 1962 Anniversary Issue of this Journal there appeared a photo entitled "From the Wide Blue Yonder." It had been snapped on January 6, 1962, at Desert Hot Springs, California. It was number 796.

No data concerning the "hov" of that picture was then presented.

Some relative correspondence has been received. One letter in particular from Singapore, Malaya, sparks an explanation.

The object shown in photograph 796 was observed for a period of over five minutes. It hovered in one spot and generated a vapor trail - which can be seen rising from the top.

The appearance and disappearance was without sound, and quick.

The picture was taken with a medium priced camera under ordinary day-light conditions.

That photo is but one of over five hundred pictures taken during the past years showing various kinds of objects and phenomena in our skies; to which may be added, there has been no satisfactory explanations to date.

Prior to publication of 796 in this Journal, the photo was shown to a dear friend, of many years.

With considerable elation she told of her seeing the same UFO - together with a friend of hers; another witness!

Asking her to write a letter as to what they did observe; the following was received:

Dear John:

Thank you for the photo of the object taken over San Geronimo area of California on January 6, 1962.

Tony Gilley and I were on our way to Yucipa for a lecture the next day. As we entered the valley through that area going down the Mingo hill we saw several cars parked - photographing this object. We watched for about 45 minutes, then hurried on to our appointment.

We saw many smaller objects, which we believe shows up in your picture, and out to the south were large ones. The colors were so beautiful - We feel so disappointed that we did not have a color movie of it as the symphony of color and motion would have been something to remember.

I was lamenting to Tony that I did not have a camera, and wished you might see this, when to my delight you send this. I do appreciate it.

Next day we found so many at the lecture had seen the same objects. We were amused that you made this photo while we were watching just a few miles away.

Good Going - Keep it up.

Yours Sincerely,
Thedra

I am so happy to see your letter on my desk with introduction material, awaiting attention. I am very sorry in replying late, due to me being in the Jungles, doing research work.

To be very frank with you, the date, month, and year that you have given. My learnt brother is TRUE, as I had seen the same thing in this part of the world, and showed it to my Colleagues, Professor Burhanuddin Mohd Noor, (Member of Parliament), Dr. Mohd Dali Yakin of 107, Jalan Sultan, Malaysia Health Center Singapore, and Dr. Mohd Noor Haji Noordin, Life Science Center, No. 2, Malay Bazaar, Malacca, Malaya, we were at that time approx. 14-45 hours, when I showed it to them from M.H.C. Then I phoned up to the Straits Times (local paper) but they could not give a proper statement, as there was no air-plane flying, the color was white and it moved very fast, towards the Pacific Ocean via Katong. This phenomena in our skies made themselves visible and invisible in a few minutes time. This saucer, which we saw, hovered in one spot and generated a vapor trail.

I am indeed very grateful to you, for sending me the copies, which I am studying very carefully.....

To sum up: The object shown in photo 296 was observed in different parts of the world, the same day!

Or, were there two UFO's of the same kind? Was it, or they, from this planet - or from outer space?

Could it be possible, there are higher intelligences on other planets in our system - or other planetary systems, that are observing us in our own atmosphere?

The questions are many, the answers are few.

However, through the pages of this publication, in the future, it is hoped other photos from the personal collection will be presented and then you may form your own conclusions.

Will close with this thought; are we alone?

I DOUBTED FLYING SAUCERS

By

STAN LAYNE

177 PAGES CLOTH BINDING—ILLUSTRATED $2.00

IN THE pages of this unique novel, I DOUBTED FLYING SAUCERS, the author has brought out the events leading up to the making, flying and traveling into space of that little known, or questionable craft, commonly called the flying saucer.

In the words of a layman, Jeff Miles, the story leads into the secrets of these space people and why they are here.

One may not agree with the story, but there will be that lingering thread of thought which will dwell in his mind and grow to convince him of another, greater pattern of life.

In this book the author tries a new field, that of Universe instead of the Western Range. I DOUBTED FLYING SAUCERS is one of the best stories of its kind. The book contains 177 pages, bound in cloth. It is sent postpaid for $2.00.

STOEP TALK

Religious services held for the souls of Japanese oysters

ONE OF THE WORLD'S most extraordinary religious services is that held every year at Ago Bay in Japan—for the repose of the souls of the 150-million oysters that died to make Kokichi Mikimoto a fabulously wealthy man and millions of pretty women all over the world happy.

I learn this from a fascinating story about the cultured pearl industry in today's issue of "Femina" written by a Durban colleague, Aida Parker, on the shores of Ago Bay where the pearl-bearing oysters are cultivated.

Mikimoto was the man who discovered that a minute bead inserted directly into the flesh of an oyster will cause it to become irritated and produce pearls as perfect as the natural pearl.

When Miss Parker asked: "Is a cultured pearl in fact a real pearl?" Mr. Yoshiharu, a Mikimoto executive, replied: "Would you say that a baby born as a result of artificial insemination is a real baby?"

In 1913, when Mikimoto suddenly exploded 30,000 perfect pearls on the market, he overnight became probably the best-hated Japanese in the world, says Miss Parker, at least as far as the jewellers were concerned. They panicked at the faultlessness of the pearls.

The only difference, the biologists agreed, between nature's pearls and Mikimoto's pearls was that the part which was not pearl, the tiny centre pellet, was introduced naturally in one and scientifically in the other.

There was, they said, no real reason why they should not have the same value.

After a lengthy international battle an agreement was reached which satisfied both parties. Mikimoto could go on producing and selling his pearls—but the price was fixed at one-fifth that of the natural pearls.

Woman, the boss

Aida Parker says that in complete contradiction to everything you find everywhere else in Japan—a land where women are still very much subordinate to the men—the pearl is the one industry where women rule the roost.

All the divers are women—men work on the boats, but all the dramatic work is done by the women, with the result that the diver wife is not only the principal wage earner but also the boss of the family.

It has been proved their touch is more delicate, their lungs are sounder for diving and their immunity against cold is greater.

Miss Parker gives some invaluable advice, straight from the oyster's tummy, so to speak, on how best to preserve a string of pearls, be they from Mikimoto's oysters or the bivalves so favoured by the Walrus and the Carpenter.

Flying Saucers are back in business

by THE EDITOR

*"Look Up!" says
Mr. ANTONI
SZACHNOWSKI, the man who wants a World U.F.O. Association.*

UNIDENTIFIED flying objects — better known by their more stirring title of flying saucers — are back in the world spotlight. Saucer-spotting took it on the chin when officialdom decided against the possibility that the earth had been receiving extra-terrestrial visitors. But it has beaten the count and coming back fighting.

To say that flying saucers are back is too bald a statement. It could be that they never went away from our skies.

But they are back insofar as saucer-spotters are active again. They are back on the job — and making a better job of it than they have ever done. This time they will take a lot of stopping.

A major step was taken last year when the British UFO Association was founded to co-ordinate the separate researches of individual organisations all over the country.

Now the next step must be — and may well be — a World UFO Federation.

One man in Britain who has never given up is Mr Antoni Szachnowski, who arrived in Britain with the 2nd Polish Corps in 1945 and is now a shipping clerk in London. Mr Szachnowski is organiser of the 300-strong Anglo-Polish UFO Research Club and one of the men — he is now the treasurer—who helped to found the British UFO Association.

He is also a leading advocate of the World UFO Federation. "Only methodical and scientifically conducted research on a global scale can give a real chance of solving the mystery of this phenomenon," he says.

UNESCO . . .

"To achieve this a centrally co-ordinated international body, a body that could approach and get help and patronage from UNESCO, is needed. As a member of the Council of the British UFO Association, and as one of its officers, I have this object very much in mind.

"Among my colleagues on the Council there exists a considerable measure of agreement as to the ultimate object of our strivings."

As a Pole Mr Szachnowski is particularly interested in what goes on in the UFO field behind the Iron Curtain. "The Press in Poland," he says, "touches on the subject from time to time. However, not nearly enough to satisfy the interest of the general public. This interest is considerable — constantly being augmented by sightings and incidents.

"Some spectacular incidents took place in Poland and other countries in Central Europe. Even from Eastern Europe — the Soviet Union — interesting news about such happenings reach us. So far these facts are hardly noticed in the West, although they are worth noticing. "I have in my club's files quite an amount of such 'saucerian' material which is generally unknown."

Mr Szachnowski takes a good deal more than an enthusiastic schoolboy interest in UFOs. In a letter published in the American magazine Newsweek in March last year he wrote: "Since 1947 flying saucers have been constantly reported from all over the world. In spite of official strivings to explain them away there remain a large proportion of sightings which defy all these attempts. Even if we take the 2.09 per cent which are admittedly unexplained, the UFO question still hangs disconcertingly over mankind. There is also a matter of real global danger. For UFOs could be mistaken for missiles and thus trigger off an ugly international situation."

Expanding on these comments, Mr Szachnowski says that in 15 years between 70,000 and 100,000 sightings of UFOs have been reported. If only 2.09 per cent of this number was taken — the percentage which the authorities admit cannot be explained — that means about 2,000 appearances have been made of genuinely mysterious objects flying in the skies of this planet.

TURNING POINT . . .

"General L. M. Chassin, General Air Defence Co-ordinator of Allied Forces in Central Europe (NATO) has written that if we persist in refusing to recognise the existence of these unidentified objects, we will end up one fine day in mistaking them for guided missiles and the worst will be upon us.

"The British UFO Association may be of considerable service to humanity and a turning point in the flying saucers affair.

"It is only natural that in this context one thinks about UNESCO and certainly I am not the only one that thinks so. This excellent organisation would not lack interest in the subject but can only act in response to popular and sensible demand.

"Concern expressed by single persons or even local groups is not sufficient. Definite postulates must come from an organisation of a more general kind.

"An international federation of clubs and organisations for research into and study of UFOs would have a much greater chance of success, especially if some prominent personalities would head this federation. No doubt there are such persons — scientists or other respected celebrities who are interested in this. They would much more readily associate themselves with an international organisation."

It is evident that Mr Szachnowski not only wants UFO research to expand. He wants it to gain in scientific status as well, something it has never really done before.

When flying saucers hit the world's headlines in 1947 clubs sprang up all over the world. Many have since disappeared. But not Mr Szachnowski's. Letters, photographs and newspaper cuttings have poured into his home steadily for years. They now form one of the most comprehensive flying saucer reference libraries in the world.

Mr Szachnowski first became interested when Free Polish pilots told him of the strange lights and shapes they saw while flying. Then he heard the same stories from German pilots. Both thought they had seen some strange enemy secret weapon.

FLAMING SHIELDS . . .

He also remembered seeing both German and Allied anti-aircraft guns firing at a curious shining object in the sky.

Now his research has advanced enormously. His archives contain reports from a town in France that luminous round objects, flying at high speed, hovered over the town square raining a white substance over a throng of people. The substance — and thus the evidence — evaporated in minutes.

FATE

There are photographs of discs surrounded by orange flames and of the "flaming shields" that have been reported as far back as Egyptian and Roman times.

Says Mr Szachnowski: "Now there seems to be some sort of pattern in the appearances. But it is only when something is seen by a number of people at the same time that the reports can be corroborated.

"Unfortunately people in towns are not so conscious of the sky as those in the country, but the more people that act as observers the greater chance we have of arriving at some explanation of these mysterious things."

Mr Szachnowski is an enthusiast for his subject. But this is not all. He believes that research into UFOs is more important than just making sensational headlines. Nothing will satisfy him but legitimate investigation on a world-wide basis.

That is why he tells people: "Look up at the sky every day. That is the only place where we can get the evidence we need."

"LOOK UP!"

PECULIARLY

A Swift
Light Is Spotted

Special to The Sun-Times

FAIRFIELD, Ill.—A strange white light Monday chased him for 10 miles at speeds up to 120 m.p.h. and then hovered over his farm home, a Wayne County youth told police breathlessly.

The light began following him as he and his date, Phyllis Bruce, 18, left a drive-in movie at Mount Vernon, 18-year-old Ronnie Austin said theatrically.

As it moved overhead, the light caused the car's engine to sputter and made the car radio "go crazy," he added mechanically.

Sound Described

Once the light swooped down to within 100 feet of the car, it made a humming sound and had a "cooling effect," he said icily. He sped to his farm home about 15 miles west of here and told his father, Orville, to get his gun, Ronnie continued automatically.

The gun seemed to cause the light to draw nearer the house, Ronnie's father said aimlessly. So he bolted back inside, turned off the lights and called police, the elder Austin said darkly.

Answering the call, Harry Lee, Wayne County deputy sheriff, saw the light at a distance, he reported standoffishly. "It was three or four times bigger than a star and was moving, but not twinkling," Lee said steadily.

Watches It

He kept it under observation for several hours, he added guardedly.

To Kenneth Talbert, police radio operator at Fairfield, about 275 miles south of Chicago, the light appeared to be shaped like a cross, he explained reverently.

Other members of the Austin family and neighbors supported the youth's story wholeheartedly. Ronnie became so excited watching the light above the house a physician was called to give him a sedative, Austin said sleepily.

HE CLAIMS INVENTION OF THE WORLD'S FIRST DEATH RAY

By Tom Crowell

Scientists Say Professor May Have Discovered Perfect Defense Against Air Attack

Local residents call him "The Mad Professor."

He is Dr. Hans Erhardt, a German professor of physics now living in Switzerland.

HE CLAIMS TO HAVE INVENTED THE WORLD'S FIRST DEATH RAY.

For months, people living near Lake Sarner have been puzzled by a mysterious ray of light in the sky.

Police at Sarnen, a small town near the lake, investigated.

They tracked the ray of light to a remote spot on Lake Sarner and found Dr. Erhardt working in a well-equipped laboratory.

"We had been aware of the strange rays since early spring," said a police inspector. "But there was no reason to investigate until some of the townspeople complained that something odd was going on."

"We interviewed the professor and he admitted he was working on a ray. He didn't deny local gossip that he was experimenting with a death ray—but told our investigator he hoped the ray would be of benefit in treating cancer."

"He said he had come to Switzerland 12 years ago. But he was not employed by the Swiss Government.

"We found no reason to interfere with his experiments."

The Swiss police questioned a number of scientists about Dr. Erhardt.

The professor was well known to them. He was considered an odd-ball, a man who preferred to work alone. But he is renowned as a brilliant scientist.

IF THE PROFESSOR HAS ACTUALLY PERFECTED A DEATH RAY, said the scientists, THEN HE HAS INVENTED THE ABSOLUTE WEAPON AGAINST ALL FORMS OF AIR ATTACK.

The STAR CHRONICLE put through a phone call to Dr. Erhardt in Switzerland. He was surprisingly easy to reach and willingly answered our questions.

"It's true I've been experimenting with death rays," he said.

"I don't work for any government. I work for and by myself."

"I use a different approach from the American scientists. They are trying to develop the Laser system for a military purpose."

"My experiments are already finished. To use the simplest terms, I've found a way to directly convert energy into an electronic wave. The wave can be conveyed any distance."

"I'm hoping it will benefit in the war against cancer. The ray is able to destroy cells in the human body."

We mentioned to Dr. Erhardt that other scientists, commenting on his ray, had said it could have only limited power.

The professor's answer was crisp and definite.

"My ray operates successfully at extreme distances," he said.

"If I wanted to, I could knock down any satellite now orbiting the earth!"

Poem by Alpha and Omega Through William Ferguson

We are the macrocosm, large and bright,
We are the microcosm, small and light.
We are the universes, light years apart,
We are the galaxies, spiral nebulae at start.

We are constellations, in grandeur we shine.
We are intelligence, the total sublime.
We are the glory, creations show.
We are the power which all can know.

We are the love, expressed as joy,
We are the happiness which you employ.
We are the atoms, cubed in form,
We are the neutrons, which are the norm.

We are the electrons, whirling around.
We are the mystery, which man has found.
We are the expression, for all to see.
We are the beauty, which is to be.

We are to be worshipped for reasons right.
We are the designers, which show the light.
We are the cosmos, our energy flows,
We are the body, which knows and grows.

We live and breathe and show our parts.
We give the energy, which moves all hearts.
We live within our expressive whole.
We give the word, which expresses the goal.

Science of Cosmic Creation,

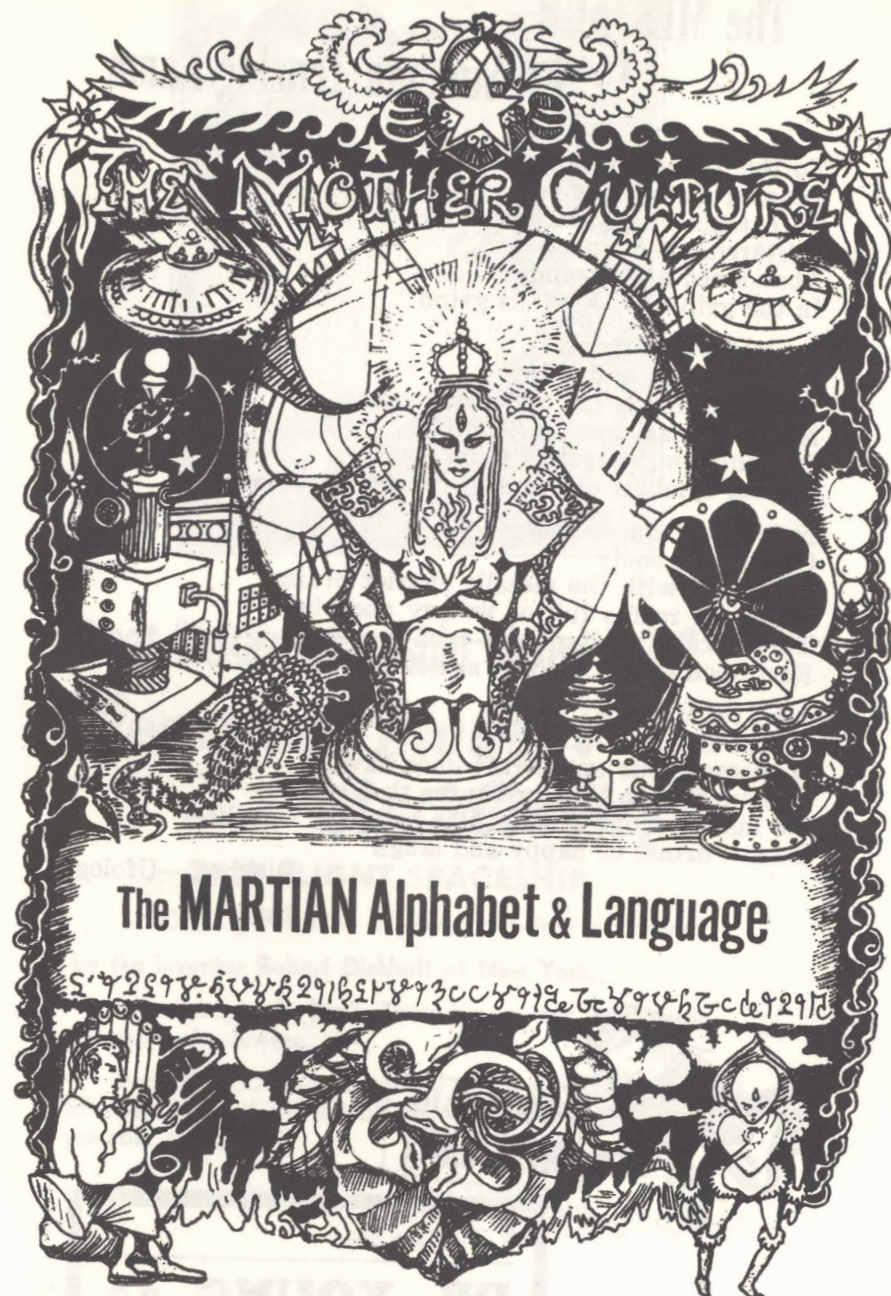

Dear Sir:

My husband and I have a friend who was in Henderson, Nevada in 1954. He saw what appeared to be a beautiful, perfectly formed cloud. He took a picture of it. He lost the negative, but gave the only picture in existence to us. We had more made. In 1955 we gave one to George Van Tassel who put it out with other pictures for people to see. He also put it on the front of his book, "Into This World and Out Again" in 1956. The pictures that were on display were removed by person or persons unknown.

In your July 1962 Flying Saucer Mag on page 67 picture 146 is this same picture supposedly taken in March 1961 in Japan by Yusuke Matsumura. I have given only three pictures out and Yusuke Matsumura was not the recipient of one. I wonder how he will be able to explain this picture he took (he claims) when it had been on a book cover six years before he claimed he took it.

I am sending you one of the pictures, would like you to compare the flaws. - Mrs. Ann M. Ray, 12807 Borden Ave., Sylmar, Calif.

The MESSAGE

by Sungma Tenzing Lama

To the Tzang-po, now low
Tenzing Lama does go
To examine a mysterious find,
A Starship has landed
Abandoned and stranded
In the grip of riversands grind

On metal now grimy,
Once brilliant and shiny
An alien inscription appears,
Not atlantean, mayan, lemurian,
Or cuniformal, egyptian, tellurian,
Having symbols of crossed, two-pointed spears

Not Taj Mahal beauty,
Or Xanadu booty
Compares with the metallic chariot brains,
Where in rooms full of watery pockets,
Three skulls having three-eyed sockets
Rest upon tunics, holding skeleton remains

Like Fu Manchu's glory,
Or the Kublai Khan story
A message our spacecraft does have,
Creatures that sing, creatures that cry,
No matter from whence, like you they can die—
So eat, drink, be happy and laugh

EGYPTIAN MAGIC

By Sir Wallis Budge

The same man who translated the famed "Book of the Dead" now brings us EGYPTIAN MAGIC, revealing the unique system of magic existing in ancient Egypt. Where others invoked the aid of benign beings to combat threatening evil, the Egyptian priest commanded darkness as well as light. He used his powers by spells, enchantments, amulets, pictures and ceremonies accompanied by potent words spoken in a certain manner.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE

Dr. Budge gives us the dialogues, poems and stories the Egyptians used in an attempt to heal the sick, raise the dead, live through eternity, destroy enemies, part the waters of the sea (long before Moses), stop the sun, know the mysteries of life and death—and know the past and the future. In EGYPTIAN MAGIC the very air of the ancient land seems aglow with invisible forces hastening to obey the magician's command.

The text also discusses many curious modern survivals of the old Egyptian "black magic."

Dear Sir:

I would like to make a suggestion. Why don't you have a stamp made with your name on it with something about flying saucers on it. I am sure it would catch the fancy of most people.

About myself I am about 5' 9½ and weigh 122 pounds, and am a Catholic who goes to a Jesuit school. I belong to the Science Club but quit because they would'nt let me give a talk on Flying Saucers.

I have had 3 experiences with the saucers. One was last night 8:30 P.M. 8-22-63 Dallas, Texas. I was looking up into the sky when I noticed a curious star. It traveled N.E. to S at a high rate of speed. The shape was like a diamond. We live 4 miles from an airport but I have never seen an object so high. The object gave off an intermittent light but was strong all the time. No sound was heard.

The second happened to a friend of mine. He was hiking on Northwest Highway with his mother. He started to climb a hill when a small red object came along and cut his rope he was climbing with. He fell but was not injured since the rock was chalk (soft) rock. The object kept spinning all the time and finally flew away.

The last happened to me and my brother while up in Boston, that is, while in camp. We saw a brilliant WHITE object in the sky. It followed us and we were scared. We ran to our cabin and bolted the door but during the night we had a visitor. We all slept in one room. ~~A man~~ a man or something got into our room. Brother Joe slapped it. It was hairy but then left without a trace. My brother still does not believe in Flying Saucers.

To The Editor
Dear Sir:

On Whidby Island we were near NAS Whidby, at Oak Harbor, Wash. Here there is a small Naval installation, known as Centerville Naval Facility. It seems that the U F O's have an affinity for military operations.

A little further down the Island we visited a friend overlooking Saratoga Passage. He had a pet U F O which he took outdoors to view, but it wasn't about when he wanted it to be. As we stood there, looking out across the moonlit water, he told me of an odd experiment he observed. He described the parent ship as a plane from N A S Whidbey. Ahead of it floated a lighted ball - or disc, and he opined the object was being controlled from the plane. He said the U F O in this case was or looked like a red-hot ball (This led to a discussion of Tesla electricity, that is, energy which repels itself away from its source, might be dangerous if in its path, but possible safe in its eye) - in this case, within the U F O.

To The Editor
Dear Sir:

I am a skeptic, and while I have long maintained that intelligent life exists on other planets (if not in our solar system outside of it) there is no proof to date that flying saucers are space ships. Many such reported sightings are undoubtedly mirages; others, perhaps, are not. A few years ago Canada's largest newspaper actually carried headlines saying that invasion from outer space was imminent; since then interest and hysteria have waned.

Sincerely,

R. S. Craggs

The Editor
Dear Sir:

After reading that some of your readers objected to our advertising sex and matrimony in your publication, we are voluntarily withdrawing it from 'FLYING SAUCER NEWS'.

As for flying saucers, we have actual proof of their existence, where they come from and their purpose; but less than 1 % of the population of this world are to be affected by these saucers, as they will not be in harmony with the 'purpose' for to be rescued by the saucers during the tragic events to take place on Earth during 1968 - 1982. This club will terminate all of our ads in 36 news-stand publications three years from now, and will disappear from the 'face' of the Earth, while that face (surface) is being 'lifted' (everything on it blown out into space). Additional information not published as the readers would be non-receptive and inharmonious to it.

Most Sincerely,

Satellite Correspondence Club
Box 1601, El Paso, Texas 79948

Dear Friends:

As we promised we would print your letter.

There were only two letters to our office objecting to your ad. These two are of such a small minority or percentage of our readers and paid subscribers that we have decided to continue to accept ads (paid for in advance) as you have done.

Sexy stories and nude pictures are not acceptable to this publication. The introduction of names such as are sold by Satellite are acceptable.

Of Human Living

Life could be calle a habit
Existing in everyone,
A day by day process
Full of misfortunes, full of fun.

Every human must live it
For it's compulsory to the living,
We all must meet our problems,
Help others, and be forgiving.

Yes, we are all like machines
That run only on command,
From some stupid hypocrite
Whose want is our demand.

But our time on earth is short
For everyone it will come to an end,
So live your life to the fullest
And do only what you intend.

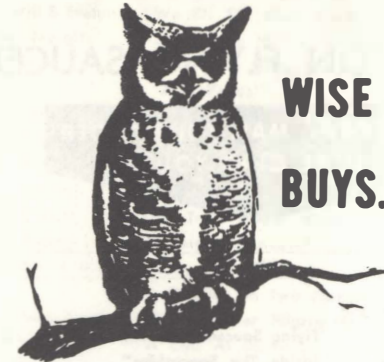

Gary Severson.
